

1. Dorje Chos (Vajradharma)

Sunday, 05 February 2006 09:49 - Last Updated Thursday, 25 January 2007 05:57

འཇམ་མཛེན་

Buddha Vajradharma is the central figure in the Vajrayogini lineage around whom all the other lineage holders grouped. He represents both, the primordial Buddha (in the Tantric form of Vajrayana teachings) and the root guru (of the practitioner).

In the sadhana he appears in two forms:

- Buddha Vajradharma (with a red-colored body and his hands crossed at the heart holding a vajra and bell);
- Hero Vajradharma (with a red-colored body, his right hand playing a damaru and his left holding a skull-cup at the heart - as in the illustration above).